

Forum of EthnoGeoPolitics

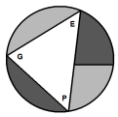

Vol.8 No.1

Autumn 2020

A publication of Association for the Study of EthnoGeoPolitics

Amsterdam The Netherlands

Print ISSN: 2214-3211 Online ISSN: 2352-3654

Forum of EthnoGeoPolitics

A publication of Association for the Study of EthnoGeoPolitics (EGP)

Kinkerstraat 73c, 1053 DG Amsterdam, the Netherlands (S. Sahin, treasurer)

Bank account NL83 INGB 0752 458760 (BIC: INGBNL2A) T. a. o. Servet Sahin

Website: www.ethnogeopolitics.org Email: info@ethnogeopolitics.org

Registered at the Dutch Chamber of Commerce, Nr. 53597257

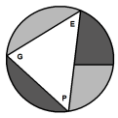

Brill Typeface: www.brill.com/brill-typeface

Print ISSN: 2214-3211 Online ISSN: 2352-3654

Publication date: 28 October 2020 (online edition)

Scope

The aim of Association for the Study of EthnoGeoPolitics (EGP) is to further the study of and teaching on the cultural, social, ethnic and (geo-)political characteristics, processes and developments in different areas of the world, at universities, institutes and colleges in and outside the Netherlands. The association's peer-reviewed and open-access journal Forum of EthnoGeoPolitics and our new publishing house EGxPress are above all intended to elicit analytic debate by allowing scholars to air their views, perspectives and research findings—with critical responses from others who may hold a different view or research approach. One can submit manuscripts—main articles (peer-reviewed), critical responses (published peer-reviews), short articles and/or book reviews—to info@ethnogeopolitics.org. We charge no fees for any of the submitted and/or published manuscripts. See www.ethnogeopolitics.org about the association's foundation, founding (editorial) board members, aims, activities and publications—and particularly the freely downloadable copies of the journal's issues and the individual contributions in each issue.

Editorial Board

Editor-in-Chief & Chairperson: Dr. Babak Rezvani, Universities of Amsterdam, Nijmegen

Executive Editor & Secretary: Caspar ten Dam, University of Leiden

Advisory Editor & Webmaster: Jaroen Schut, University of Groningen

Senior Editors:

Dr. Arnav Anjaria, political science & IR, Amity University, Noida, India

Dr. Oybek Makhmudov, University of Uzbekistan, Tashkent (Russian, Persian sections)

Mojtaba Shoeibi, PhD political geography, Tarbiat Modares Univ., Iran (Persian section)

Associate Editors:

Servet Sahin, Free University of Amsterdam & Treasurer EGP

Dr. Jason E. Strakes, Politics & Security Programme OSCE Academy Bishkek, Kyrgyzstan

Dr. Marat Ilyasov, University of St Andrews, United Kingdom (Russian section)

Assistant Editors:

Dulce M. Gonzalez, MA indigenous development, Univ. Winnipeg, CN (Spanish section)

Dr. Rodolfo Valentino, Director European Institute of Studies on Migration, Social Inclusion & Intercultural Learning (IEM), Bonn, Germany (Spanish & German sections)

Samira Orudzheva, MS sustainable development, UCL, UK (Russian section)

Zhang Shi, MAs engineering & ec. law Shenyang & China Univ., China (Chinese section)

Shreyas Dutta, B.Sc Economics, Symbiosis School of Economics, India (Asian section)

Recommendation and Advisory Committee:

Prof. Jacek Czaputowicz, Institute of European Studies, University of Warsaw, Poland

Dr. Olivier Ribbelink, T.M.C. Asser Institute International & European Law, The Hague

Dr. Françoise Companjen, intercultural management, Free University Amsterdam

Dr. James M. Dorsey, S. Rajaratnam School I.S, Nanyang Technological Univ., Singapore

Prof. John Clark, President International University of Central Asia, Tokmok, Kyrgyzstan

Prof. Thede Kahl, Institute Slavistics-Caucasus Studies, F. Schiller Univ., Jena, Germany

Prof. Huib Ernste, Chair Human Geography, Radboud Univ., Nijmegen, Netherlands

Prof. Edwin D. Lawson, Prof. Emeritus Psychology, State University NY, Fredonia, U.S.;

head Taskforce Onomastics & EthnoGeoPolitics (managing director: Dr. B. Rezvani)

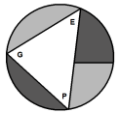

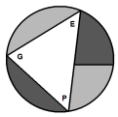

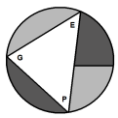

Table of Contents

Page 9	Editorial 2020: A Time of Health Crises and Ethno-National Wars Caspar ten Dam & Babak Rezvani
Page 13	Main Article—Developments in the field Geography, State and Ethnogeopolitics in the (post) Covid-19 Age of Globalisation Babak Rezvani & Caspar ten Dam
Page 36	Critique on ‘Geography – Globalisation’ essay (Critical Response) Anonymous
Page 37	Editorial Note Caspar ten Dam
Page 39	Нетрадиционная тактика внешних акторов влияющие на протестные движения в регионах Африки и Ближнего Востока (Non-traditional Tactics of External Actors influencing Protest movements in the Regions of Africa and the Middle East) Ойбек Махмудов и Бабак Резвани (Oybek Makhmudov & Babak Rezvani)

- Page 49 Inequality and Poverty in Spain continue to grow—
Between working in the Black Economy and the Civil-servant Bureaucracy
Rodolfo Valentino
- Page 56 Ungleichheit und Armut in Spanien wachsen weiter—
Zwischen Schwarzarbeit und Verbeamtung
Rodolfo Valentino
- Page 64 La Desigualdad y la Pobreza en España continúan
creciendo—Entre Dinero Negro y Oposiciones
Rodolfo Valentino
- Page 71 Main Article
Democratisation in Russian Politics and the 1994 Russian
Invasion of Chechnya
Michael Keen
- Page 93 Main Article
The Ethnic Womb and the Symbolic Hearth:
How Identity Politics Made Women Targets of Sexual Violence in Nagorno-Karabakh
Quinn A. Webster
- Page 129 Nagorno-Karabakh Conflict: A Protracted Melted Conflict
rather than a Frozen one
Babak Rezvani & Caspar ten Dam

- Page 140 Dorsey's Column
Drawing Battle Lines: Centre-right Parties take on Civilisationism
James M. Dorsey
- Page 146 Guest Column
The Religious Doctrines of the Iraqi Turkmen:
a Focus on the Shia Turkmen
Sheth Jerjis

* * * Call and Guidelines for Contributions * * *

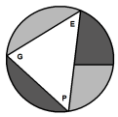

Our journal is ready to receive contributions in Russian, German, Spanish and other non-English languages (though all require English abstracts) as well. We at the Editorial Board do not apply a strict wordlimit, but we prefer full-fledged research articles of no more than 10,000 words. We also welcome short analytical articles, book reviews, review essays, and opinion pieces. We charge no fees for any of the submitted and/or published manuscripts. We provide Open Access in accordance with our Creative Common License policy which can be consulted on our website.

Regular contributors may get a guaranteed space in future issues of our journal, with a recognisable header like ‘Dorsey’s Column’ for James M. Dorsey’s contributions. It does not necessarily mean that we approve of everything that these contributors may say. The contributors themselves are responsible and accountable for their statements.

Furthermore, we welcome contributions for special issues on common themes, like the one on Human Security in our Winter 2015 issue. Association of EthnoGeoPolitics is willing to (re)publish through our new publishing house EGxPress special issues in book form—and publish monographs and other manuscripts in book form as well.

Research essays—particularly so-called ‘Main Articles’—undergo rigorous peer-review from at least two peer-reviewers. Extensive (book) review essays that have undergone such review as well, are also considered Main Articles.

We welcome and publish open comments i.e. critical responses—particularly those of peer-reviewers—in order to encourage feedback and debate. These responses can be anonymous if their authors wish so. Still, we encourage them to publicise their names under their contributions, as the latter will thus become better citable, referable and indexical as sources and publications.

Of course we at the Editorial Board decide whether or not to publish (excerpts from) peer-reviewers' comments, based on considerations of utility and usefulness for ongoing debate. Thus the absence of published peer-reviews and comments does not mean that these do not exist; thus some peer-reviews are not published because their comments have been addressed by the author in his or her contribution. To reiterate, Main Articles have undergone generally two or more peer-reviews.

The Editorial Board may publish some of the later comments on published contributions as critical responses (maximum 3,000 words) in one or more subsequent issues of the journal. Extensive critical responses with source references may be published as full-fledged, separate research articles.

For each submitted manuscript, please supply your full name, academic and/or other professional titles and affiliations, address(es) and other contact details, as well as your research specialisms and any major publications.

Please submit these details with your manuscripts at www.ethnogeopolitics.org/contact-2, or to info@ethnogeopolitics.org.

See for more details on the submission process of main articles, critical responses and other manuscripts www.ethnogeopolitics.org/publications.

We thus welcome your contributions, ranging from articles to transparent reviews and comments on these articles.